

POSITION SPECIFICATION: Manufacturing Engineer

Allied Moulded Products, Inc. (Allied Moulded) is the Contractor's Choice of nonmetallic electrical boxes and enclosures in today's residential, commercial and industrial markets. Leveraging more than half-a-century of experience, Allied Moulded has grown to become the benchmark of quality within the electrical industry. Our full-service molding operation includes expertise in compression and injection molding utilizing thermoset and thermoplastic materials, as well as our unique resin transfer molding process. Utilizing a modern automated assembly process, we are pleased to provide our customers with a superior product at a competitive price. Our unrelenting focus on service, delivery, value, innovation and technology in everything we make and do, has made us who we are today.

The Manufacturing Engineer is involved with all aspects of equipment, fixturing, automation, robotics, etc. to efficiently process molded parts into finished products. Knowledge of industrial automation, process improvements, problem solving, cost justifications and project management are key fundamentals for success. This position interacts regularly with all other functional departments and outside suppliers to accomplish project objectives. Effective communication, attention to detail, ability to prioritize and solid modeling skills are essential. Abilities with Solidworks, CAMworks, CNC programming and PLCs are a plus.

The successful candidate will have a bachelor's degree in manufacturing engineering (or related degree), preferably with some on the job experience in this field. An associate's degree in engineering will be considered with appropriate level of experience.

The Allied Moulded Products, Inc. employee benefit options include medical insurance with vision coverage, dental, life insurance, and a disability and flexible spending account. You choose the benefits that best suit your individual needs. In addition, we offer a 401(k) plan with a company match, tuition assistance, vacation, holidays, and employee assistance.
